

ANGIE WANG

MULTIPLATFORM JOURNALIST

CONTACT

☎ 510-371-1471
✉ angiewang@gmail.com
🌐 http://angie.wang
🐦 @byangiewang
📷 @angiewang.jpg
🌐 /in/angiewang

SKILLS

Photoshop, Lightroom, Photo Mechanic, Final Cut Pro, Premiere, Audition, WordPress, basic HTML, CSS, JavaScript and C++, photojournalism, videography, live broadcasting using Dejero, audio storytelling, social media, gathering and verifying user-generated content, conversational Chinese, trained in geolocating breaking news app Banjo

AWARDS

Bridget O'Brien Reporting Scholarship

Worked with two colleagues at the UCLA Daily Bruin to report on undocumented student access to higher education across the United States undocumented.dailybruin.com

Won awards for California College Media Association's Best News Series 2016 and Society of Professional Journalists 2016 Finalist for Best In-Depth Reporting

CCMA's Best Sports Photograph 2017

Photographed UCLA gymnast Sophina DeJesus at the end of her hip hop-inspired floor routine that went viral, capturing her reaction to her performance in a photo that ran in The New York Times

REFERENCES

AMY SINGER

COLUMBIA JOURNALISM SCHOOL PROFESSOR
amy.singer@columbia.edu, 917-680-2224

MIKE HOYT

COLUMBIA JOURNALISM SCHOOL PROFESSOR
mike.j.hoyt@gmail.com, 201-233-4547

JOSH HOFFNER

ASSOCIATED PRESS NATIONAL NEWS EDITOR
FOR RACE, EDUCATION AND IMMIGRATION
jhoffner@ap.org, 602-258-8934

EDUCATION

COLUMBIA JOURNALISM SCHOOL EXPECTED MAY 2018

- Pursuing an M.S. in journalism with a focus on multiplatform coverage of education, health care, immigration and the impact of national legislation beyond the Beltway
- Covering Brownsville, Brooklyn for Nycitylens.com, a news site that aims to publish local stories that the city's major newspapers miss
- Working on a video about how a boxing club that has trained several champions helps local kids stay off the streets, and a story that analyzes whether crime coverage in Brownsville perpetuates its violent image despite a drop in crime rates
- Embedded within an local elementary school that uses a "looping" model to foster close relationships between students and teachers
- Past stories include a piece on violence against nurses and doctors in emergency departments and an in-depth look into a case of gun violence in Brooklyn that tore apart two families
- Working on a longform piece on the effects of judges' biases on the fairness of court proceedings, with a focus on a Bronx Family Court judge who is championing the cause of fairer adjudication in New York

UCLA

MARCH 2017

- B.A. in communication studies with a specialization in computing

EXPERIENCE

ALL-FORMATS INTERN | THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MAY 2017 – JULY 2017

- Covered breaking news from the AP's Phoenix bureau, including a series on wrong-way driving accidents that caught the attention of Arizona Gov. Doug Ducey and several state agencies
- Chased user-generated content for news coverage in 13 states while assisting the AP's West Desk
- Edited social videos using footage from AP reporters across the region
- Shot and filed video footage to the AP Television Network

NEWS EDITOR & SENIOR STAFF WRITER

UCLA DAILY BRUIN

MAY 2015 – MARCH 2017

- Managed a staff of five assistant editors and 30 staff writers, awarded the Newspaper and Online Pacemaker awards in 2016
- Led coverage of 2016 murder-suicide involving an engineering professor and a disgruntled former graduate student
- Covered breaking news, local Westwood businesses, student life, faculty research, graduate schools and transportation
- Wrote features on students, organizations and faculty
- Worked with photo, radio and video sections to produce compelling multimedia facets that accompany stories
- Also served as assistant photo editor and photographer from January 2014 to March 2017

MULTIMEDIA JOURNALIST | AAJA VOICES

JUNE 2016 – AUGUST 2016

- Shot photos during the Asian American Journalists Association convention in Las Vegas, including the cover for the VOICES print edition and the Presidential Candidate Town Hall
- Shot and edited a video on racism Asian-American journalists face in the newsroom and in the field
- Worked with election data to show party and candidate preference among Asian-American voters